To Mayor and Council,

This bylaw as it has been written, and updated in tonight's meeting should be approved. This is the last step that is needed to speed building applications up at the municipal level. The province has done their part to speed applications along and work on the housing crisis in the province of British Columbia. Now it is up to municipality to pass minor decisions off to the Director of planning as per the by law. It is the last step that is needed, but also the most critical one to deal with the housing crisis in B.C. Every day we delay passing by laws such as this is another day, we fall further behind in dealing with the housing crisis.
